

Dr. Sirish Chandra Srinath MD, DM (Cardiology) is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Cardiology of Christian Medical College Vellore, India. He did his undergraduate training at Gandhi Medical College, Hyderabad followed by his MD at Osmania Medical College, Hyderabad. He completed his Cardiology training at CMC, Vellore in 2015. Dr. Sirish subsequently did an Adult cardiac Electrophysiology fellowship at Toronto General Hospital. He joined the faculty in Cardiac Electrophysiology.

During his academic career, Dr. Sirish has published several papers in reputed international journals. He won the first prize in the prestigious Heart Rhythm Bowl at the international level. Dr. Sirish is an astute physician with great hand skills. His areas of interest are catheter ablation of ventricular tachycardia and inherited arrhythmia syndromes.